Malta women's coach Mark Gatt has named a squad of 18 players ahead of the first of two friendly matches against Estonia on Monday at the Centenary Stadium.

The first of the two matches, which is also Malta's first official outing for 2018, kicks off at 15:00.

The two teams meet for the second time on Thursday (kick-off 6.30 p.m.) with both matches being played at the Centenary Stadium.

Gatt's squad is mainly composed of locally-based players with the exception of Maria Farrugia who is registered with the Sunderland AFC Academy.

In their last two official outings, both friendly matches, the Malta women's team achieved a double of 4-0 wins over the United Arab Emirates at the Centenary Stadium in November.

Those two victories helped Malta rise eight places in the FIFA women's rankings to 85th. Estonia are ranked 77th.

Last month, the Malta women's team played two exhibition matches against Dutch club side SC'80 T GOOI FC, winning the first one and drawing the second.

Gatt's team will be looking to enhance the positive atmosphere surrounding women's football following the success of the Malta U-16 girls' team in the UEFA Youth U-16 Development Mini-Tournament last week.

The Maltese girls completed their commitments with a perfect record after wins over Andorra, Gibraltar and Liechtenstein.

The U-16 team was led by Malta midfielder Dorianne Theuma who is currently sidelined with injury. Goalkeepers Jodie Attard and Maria Xuereb, and forward Ylenia Carabott are also missing from the senior squad for the Estonia friendlies due to injuries.
